NEW YORK CITY vs. BELLEFONTE

In the Watchman of November 24th, 1871, some benighted, oppressed and illiterate taxpayer of Bellefonte, undertakes to apologize for the gigantic wholsale frauds and stealings of the Tammanyites of New York, by showing that Bellefonte is subjected to a heavier taxation and burden of debt than New York, and that it is afflicted with a worse administration of its municipal government than New York city. It will be remembered that "Tax-Payer" charges Bellefonte with being defrauded to an extent 3½ times greater by Republican officials, than New York is by Democratic officials.

Let us take a statement of this financial Savan of a taxpayer as given in the Watchman, and expose the fallacy of his conclusions.

He states New York debt $114,000,000; population 950,000 persons, men, women and children. The amount of debt per capita $12. Had he devoted 6 months to the study of Davies arithmetic, he would have found that 950,000 are contained into 114,000,000, one hundred and twenty times, so from his own data he makes the debt of New York city, per capita, $120, almost three times as large as that of Bellefonte, being about $42 according to his showing. Solomon says, "answer a fool according to his folly," but to answer an ignoramus according to his ignorance, would be the worst of follies.

Before "Tax-payer" again attempts to justify the thieving of Tammany, by drawing a parallel between the finances of New York and those of Bellefonte, and attempt to impose upon the people so egregious a blunder, we advise him to at least familiarize himself with the rule of Simple Division.

Any one will see, at a glance, that the Democracy of New York, within the last few years, has inflicted a debt upon its citizens, almost three times as large per head, as the debt of Bellefonte is under Republican rule. So if the policy of this wise-acre of "Tax-Payer" were adopted, our debt would very soon become intolerable, and Bellefonte become bankrupt and be obliged to adopt another apt policy of the Democracy as a necessary consequence, which is repudiation.

We think "Tax-payer" ought to be honest enough, since his blunder has been exposed, to acknowledge the same publicly.

We wonder if he will? A frank confession, you know, is good for the soul. "Where ignorance is bliss, 'tis folly to be wise."

HODGE AND TWEED.

For weeks past the Democratic Press has been filled with loud and incessant howls over the defalcation of Hodge—Democratic politicians have been proclaiming it from the stump and shrieking it at the corners throughout the land.

Now the plain truth about the whole matter is simbly this: Maj. Hodge was a paymaster in the U. S. Army, a position of honor and high trust, and being an educated soldier, no attention was paid to his politics, as it is quite common for officers in the regular Army to claim that they are not affected by partizan influences. He was tempted, and fell into bad and extravagant habits, engaged in most reckless speculations, and embezzled nearly half a million of dollars that belonged to the Government. There is no reason to believe that he was a natural born villain; or that his purpose or intention was at the first to wrong the treasury out of a single cent. There is little doubt but he would have accounted for every dollar that passed through his hands, had his speculations and risks proved fortunate. When ruin and disgrace stared him in the face, and he could no longer hide his speculations and misdeeds, he made a full and humble confession that touched every good and warm heart with a feeling of pity and sorrow for his family and himself. But he had done wrong—committed a crime—and it was proper and right he should suffer the penalty of the law he had violated. Justice has been sternly and properly dealt out to him. After a fair and impartial hearing of the evidence, a Court-martial found him guilty and sentenced him to a just punishment of ten years hard service in the penitentiary as a convict.

This is the way Republicans administer the government, execute the law, and punish defaulters. Let justice be done, though the Heavens fall, is the doctrine and practice of the Republican party.

How is the case with Wm. M. Tweed of Tammany Hall in New York city, which is as much and fully in the hands of the Democratic party, under him, as the Government of the United States is under President Grant and in the hands of the Republican party. Tweed has stolen millions from the people of New York city, but notwithstanding this, he still claims to lead the Democratic party, and stand as a candidate for office with an effrontery that had no parallel, except when the devil offered to bestow the whole earth on our Saviour. Tweed is in the hands of the Democratic party, and there is little hope or prospect of a just punishment being meted out to him and his colleagues, in much greater fraud and crimes than those of Hodge. This is the difference between Republican justice and that of the Democratic party.

The Republican party punishes defaulters as exemplified in the case of Hodge. While the Democratic party lets them go unwhipped of justice as most fully seen and exhibited to the world in the case of Tweed.

WAILS OF THE WICKED.

Hon. Reverdy Johnson recently sent for publication in the Baltimore Sun a letter written to him by a South Carolinian, whose name is suppressed, in which is told a lachrymore tale of woe for the Ku-Klux of the Palmetto State.

The special burden of his complaint is, that a brother of the writer was arrested under the operation of the Ku-Klux law of Congress and "Thrown into a Common Jail." What do we hear? Is it possible that a South Carolinian, charged with scourging and killing his fellow citizens, is actually arrested and placed in a common jail? Dare the President thus to violate his sacred liberty and polute his personal dignity who was perchance the late owner of these same citizens? His right to amuse himself, as charged, had been established for years, and homicide had no horrors for him, as it could not be inquired into upon the testimony of the race whom it most affected. Surely his most sacred rights have not been lost with the lost cause! The outrage upon him is unbearable, and he cries to Heaven and Democracy for redress of his dreadful grievances.

In the agony of a "pertubed spirit" which will not rest, he exclaims: "The liberty of South Carolina's best blood is invaded; and Why? What right has this new fledged citizen, or his white abettor to hold political opinions not dictated by the governing class? We mean to continue to govern them in our own way for their good, and for doing this, shall we be confined in dungeons under criminal charges."

It is quite true that these political victims whom he is charged with surprising at midnight, to murder, maim and otherwise maltreat for opinion's sake would have joyfully hailed this same common jail as a most welcome shelter from the lash, the knife, and the rope. But they belong to a different class of American citizens, while he is justified and encouraged by the Democracy of the North, and the grand juries and courts of his State tearfully sustain him, and point him out as a paragon of injured innocence—a martyr to fanaticism.

It often makes all the difference whose ox is gored, but in these cases there is no shadow of parallel between the two antagonized complainants. On the one hand, the Ku-Klux, charged with combining and committing outrages on unoffending citizens, is arrested in accordance with law, after due notice proclaimed by the highest authority of the Government. He is confined in a place established for such purposes until a hearing can be had before a United States Court. On the other hand, those whom the Ku-Klux tear from their beds, are taken and bound, tied to a horse, perhaps, and dragged into the woods, there to be beaten, tortured and killed at the whim of these pretenders to superior blood, without lawful pretext or appeal of any kind. The one is not even charged with any violation of State or National law, while by the other every principle of peaceful citizenship is outraged, in order to intimidate and to fetter political opinion, and thus prevent the rule of the majority by its lawful expression at the ballot-box, whereon rests the genius of the Government which holds the bonds of our free society together.

The letter itself is worthy of the olden times of South Carolina. So full is it of ridiculous exaggeration and of Hotspurl spleen, that it might be mistaken for an old Spanish or Mexican pronuntiamento. Thus it charges on the administration "cruelty and inhuman barbarity enough to bring the blush of shame to the cheek of a Nero, and soften the heart of a Tiberius."

From the description he gives of the celerity with which the Ku-Klux have fled from their homes, on the approach of those authorized to make arrests, it would seem that their guilty consciences need no accusers, and that whether these would-be Nero's and Tiberius's have or have not "the blush of shame" and "softened hearts," they have, at least, a wholesome dred of an earnest execution of the law which, to their infinite surprise, has overtaken them.

Forgetful that the flight of alleged offenders is proof of their guilt, this pitiful writer wails over the corroboration of their criminaality, admitting a general stampede, only to blame it upon the execution of authority, and thus "gives the bastinado" with his pen:

"Grant's proclamation, alleging that the upper districts of South Carolina are in a state of rebellion, is the most stupendous lie that was ever promulgated to the world: the most infamous document that ever bore an official seal. In its utter falsehood, its cool audacity, its daring assumption, its sublime mendacity and its damnable iniquity, it is without precedent or parallel in history. There is no document on record comparable to it. The cruel tyranny of the measure is only equalled by the arbitrary despotism which has been practiced upon a Poland or a Hungary, a Greece or an Ireland. And the worst of it is, there is no help for us. When the President of a free country, in a time of profound peace, deliberately turns his 'dogs of war' loose upon an unoffending, defenseless people, and the cold eye of the world bears in it no sympathy for us, there is no help for us under the sun, and little hope."

Such magniloquent bluster would be unworthy of reproduction, save for the purpose of letting in the light upon its hollow mockery by comparing it with later accounts which even the Baltimore Sun has been obliged to publish as facts, viz: that hundreds of these Ku-Klux, who did not run away, have voluntarily surrendered and confessed innumerable murders and other heinous crimes committed by order of the chiefs of the organization, whose existence is so stoutly denied; while the better class of the Ku-Klux who have been inveigled into the dens are profoundly grateful to the Government authorities for freeing them from the horrible tyranny to which the conspiracy had subjected them—the members being obligated to visit with certain death those who violated any of the horrible oaths binding them to secrecy and obedience to orders.

Yet this ex-Senator and ex-Minister who has been induced by such shallow gasconade to join the ranks of the constitutional traitors, and to come forward as the defender of the injured Ku-Klux sends this letter to this neutral paper which publishes it with a column of denunciation of the President for executing a law of Congress.

The boldly expressed falsehoods of the writer pass current with these feeble minded gentlemen as the explosion of honest indignation, for which they were intended as passable imitations. Yet even they cannot much longer afford to deny that they have their full and complete answer in the familiar couplet:

"The rogue ne'er felt the halter draw
With good opinion of the law."

For the cure of Fever and Ague, Dumb Ague, Chill-Fever, Intermitting Fever, Old Mismanaged Agues; Bad Effects of Agues treated or suppressed with Quinine, Cholagogue Arsenic, and other deleterious drugs, Humphreys' Homeopathic Specific, Number Sixteen, is superior to any thing known. As a preventive of ague, it may be relied upon. Taken by persons travelling through an aguey or marsh district, or residing in such locality, it protects the system from the disease.

THE GALLOWS.

EXECUTION OF JOHN H. HUNTER THE GARGET MURDERER—HIS CRIME—HIS DYING WORDS—THE EXECUTION.

The terrible double murder committed by John H. Hunter, on the 27th day of May last, in Richfield, Summit Co., Ohio, is an event not soon to be forgotten by any who have the history of the facts, and much less by those who were directly concerned in the transaction. Through correspondence, Hunter had an engagement for marriage with Miss Cloe Gargett, a respectable and educated lady; but before the consummation of this arrangement, rumors derogatory to the character of Hunter came to Miss Gargett and she declined having anything further to say or do with him.—During this writing and engagement Hunter was at Elm Hall, Michigan, and had visited Miss Gargett but once before the tragedy.

Hunter was not willing to let matters rest here, left Michigan in May last with the avowed purpose to see and marry his girl or "Clean out the whole shebang."

He arrived in Richfield—armed with a revolver—on the 27th day of May, and met a brother (Rodney), of Miss Gargett's four miles from Richfield, with whom he rode home.

Here he was met at the gate by the father of Miss Gargett, of whom he requested to see his girl, but was refused and ordered to leave the premises.—Scarcely had the words passed the lips of Mr. Gargett, when Hunter drew up his revolver fired and mortally wounded him. The report brought Mrs. Gargett to the door and Hunter, like a maduan, rushed over his fallen victim toward Mrs. Gargett and shot her dead on the spot. He now entered the house in pursuit of Miss Garget, his girl, who was fleeing for her life upon the warning and last words of her mother. She ran up stairs—opened the window jumped to the ground and escaped to a neighbors house.

Rodney came to her rescue and a struggle ensued when a third shot wounded him severely. The murderer soon was about entering the neighbor house, in which Miss Gargett was secreted, but he was here met by a most brave and heroic woman, Mrs. Poole. She confronted the assassin boldly and foiled him in further pursuit. He was immediately arrested and lodged in the Akron jail. On the 17th day of July his trial commenced and lasted fourteen days, Judge S. W. McClure on the bench. The jury after an absence of two hours returned a verdict of "guilty of murder in the first degree," and Hunter's last day was set—the 21st of Nov. The plea of insanity was set up but could not be sustained. Hunter feigned insanity during his incarceration a good part of the time and attempted suicide by cutting a vein on his arm the last but one night before his execution.

Three days before he was hung Mrs. H——, and myself visited him in his cell. He was conversant and deeply regretted his crime—said he would willingly die if he could only restore the life of those he had taken—that he always loved Mr. and Mrs. Gargett, and did not mean to shoot them; that he shot them during a fit of anger and insanity; but thought it would be better, under the circumstances, if he had succeeded in shooting Miss Gargett too and would have done so if a chance had been given him.

That he had fully determined to commit suicide, the annexed letters will show:

HIS VIEWS OF SUICIDE, CAPITAL PUNISHMENT, &C.

SUMMIT COUNTY JAIL,
AKRON, Nov. 20th, 1871.

MR. LANE:—I now seat myself to inform you, and through you the public, that I am this day going to commit suicide. I do it with long premeditation, but I do it without malice, either against myself or any other person in this world. Then it cannot be called murder in the first degree.

The Sheriff sat up with me all last night to watch me; but little did he think that I sat up to watch him at the same time. I thought it was rather hard for him to sit up with me all night to try to keep me alive so that he could have the pleasure of killing me the next day. These laws don't suit some believers, myself among the number. Let those who make such laws experiment on them themselves. I consider that they are the Devil's laws and let him get caught in his own trap. I certainly would not allow any person that wishes to go to Heaven to to throw himself, body and soul, into such a place as to be hanged by the neck until he is dead, for God has said: "He that is hanged is accursed," Dieut. 21:23. Galatians 3:14. That is my belief. Read that before you say or think any more. I hope that my friends—Christians—will at as early a day as possible abolish all such inhumanity as trying to swing their fellowman into Heaven by a rope, and then have the assurance to say that that is in accordance with the laws of God. God made man and then he made the laws. But he never made a law to hang either you or me. So, therefore, you must not think but what you will do right if you act accordingly.

I am just as clear in my own conscience at this present moment, of what I am about to do as you are in your belief, for I act in accordance with the laws of God, as you are acting in accordance with the laws of inhumanity and barbarity. You ought to turn from your wretched cruelty, no matter what people may say about it when you are wrong. Well might you say that if I was the last man to commit such a crime you would give me clear, but seeing that I am not, then the jury must be told to make an example of me. But my Christian professor you are only making an example of yourself, not only before your fellow men but before your God.

I will now close by saying: Let all bitterness, and wrath, and clamor and evil speaking be put away from you, with all malice, and be ye kind to one another, tender-hearted, forgiving one another, even as God, for Christ's sake has forgiven you. Peace be to the brethren, and love with faith from God the Father and the Lord Jesus Christ. Grace be with them that love the Lord Jesus Christ in sincerity. Now may the Lord of Peace himself give you peace always, by all means. The Lord be with you all, and save my soul. Amen.

JOHN H. HUNTER.

HIS LAST WRITTEN STATEMENT.

AKRON JAIL, Nov. 20,
ONE O'CLOCK, P. M.

MR. LANE:—Please add one favor more to the many already done me, by publishing this my last dying declaration: I, John H Hunter, now declare, in the presence of my Maker, that to the best of my knowledge and belief, Sheriff Curtiss is ignorant of all this act of suicide that I am about to commit. So, therefore, there is no person to blame, for they have kept a very close watch over me here or I should have done this long ago, as I never intended to die on the gallows. I have had the instrument to do it with for nearly four months in this jail. But I doubt whether it will ever be found after I am gone, as it is a very small aricle and is almost invisible a short distance off. Farewell!

JOHN H. HUNTER.

He was closely watched by the sheriff during the last thirty-six hours of his life and foiled in succeeding. On the day of execution the carpenters placed the gallows within the corriders of the jail before day-break, Hunter lying in his cell hearing every click of the hammer and grate of the saw. He refused to drink or eat anything on that day.

Revs. M. A. Scanlon and Cooley were in attendance upon the prisoner in the morning and at the execution. There were also present, a few reporters, three physicians, the sheriff (Curtiss), and his assistants.

At fifteen minutes past eleven, sheriff Curtiss and Rev. Cooley led him up the steps—seated him on the platform of the gallows. He now appeared in the greatest agony of mind possible, exclaiming:

"Oh! my God, my Lord! O, is it possible that my last hour has come! Oh! my dear friends all pray for me! Oh! must I go through all this!"

The sheriff asked him to remain quiet for a short time, which he did. His death warrant was then read to him, after which he had ten minutes to speak and spoke substantially as follows;

"I am an innocent man. I pray the Lord to forgive all my sins and enemies and that we may all meet in heaven. I forgive all my enemies and hope to be forgiven. I have no enmity against my girl Chloe Gargett, and may God forgive her. I have no confession to make. I have tried to live so others could do by me as I did by them. I give my love and respects to all. I want all to pray for me. I loved Mrs. and Mr. Gargett up to the time I did the deed. Witnesses swore false against me, but I forgive them all. I must now take my leave of my friends and the world. To the sheriff, give my love to your wife. I am an innocent man. I never premeditated it. O, my last minute has come."

Rev. Mr. Cooley then read a portion of scripture and offered a fervent prayer, after which he took Hunter by the hand and said: "Good-bye John, we have often met but shall no more here." Hunter replied, "Good-bye" and exclaimed, "God my merciful Father, this is my last moment, forgive me as thou hast promised! Oh! mercy, mercy!" His hands were then cuffed and bound to his sides, his ankles fastened and his feet placed to the centre of the trap. Hunter standing erect. A few minutes were given and he said: "O, won't some one pray for me. I never premeditated it. I hope to meet my girl in heaven, and all the rest," shaking his head constantly. Mr. Cooley again appeared on the scaffold and offered a prayer that fortitude might be given the prisoner to meet his impending fate. The sheriff now stepped forward with the black cap, and Hunter said, "Don't put that on me, it's my last request." The sheriff replied, "it must be, it is part of my duty." Hunter then pressed and kissed the sheriff and his assistants. The black cap was put on him and the fatal noose carefully and closely adjusted about his neck, and just 15 minutes of 12 the trap was sprung, the body falling seven and a half feet, the toes of his boots touching the floor of the jail. His last exclamation was, "O, my Lord God Almighty. Give my love to all—both friends and enemies." There was no struggling, but slight vibrating motion over the entire body, and in two minutes this ceased. In just seven minutes his pulse ceased to beat. The first half minute the pulse numbered 32; second 38; third 50; fourth 60; sixth 70; (now intermittent), seventh 40, and ceased. A thorough post mortem revealed nothing unusual—the brain weighing forty-six and one half ounces, a fair averaged brain. His body was buried.

DEMOCRACY DEFUNCT.

Referring to Senator Blair and his late speech at Montgomery, Ala., a Democratic Correspondent of the Baltimore Sun makes some singular disclosures of the present situation of the Democratic camp and council.

He says that Senator Blair took ground also for maintaining the Democratic party in fact, but in favor of nominating a Republican for it's candidate, and continues as follows:

"It is thought by some that there is an important difference between those who favor and those who oppose giving up the Democratic organization for the next election; but a little reflection will show that this difference is more ostensible than real—that all are in favor of a substantial declamer. Those who are for and those who are against this measure are equally in favor of an advanced candidate. Now, it is manifest that the nomination of Chief Justice Chase, or any Republican, by the Democratic party, would be equivalent to its dissolution. Whatever might be said or thought about it, the avowed principles would have to match the candidate. It would scarcely do to go before the people with the id a that the candidate was a democrat in principle and a Republican by profession. The two would have to tally. And then what would be left of the Democratic party but th name?

"Yet such a renunciation seems to be, in the order of things, the party of wisdom and necessity. The Democratic party as a reality belongs to the past. It is of the ante bellum period. We live in another epoch. A party must stand for a principle if it hopes to triumph. The greatness of the Democratic party in times past was due to the fact that it was an exponent of the principles of the equality of the States; but that principle is not in issue. What is now to be contended for is the equality of the sections. The war has developed a new order of things. It has brought into existence the North and the South as the cardinal elements of our political activity; and the ruler and the parties not recognizing this will fail."

After arguing at some length in favor of sustaining Southern feeling and a Southern faction, contradistinguished from the North and its progressive civilization, the writer thus concludes:

"Standing for both sections, holding the balance with an impartial hand between them, and thus insuring for a period the dignity, the power and the glory of his country, if such a candidate should be presented to the people—be it Judge Chase, or Judge Trumbull, or Judge Davis, or Gratz Brown, or any other equally worthy—I have the faith to believe that they would elect him."

It is unnecessary to utter a word upon such a swan-like dying song on the part of this effete relic of a once powerful party of principles. It is the spirit of prophecy inspired by faith in the cohesion of public plunder as the sole basis of political success!! It is the ride of a clown between two horses while attempting to stride both at the same time.

All who remain uninspired by this peculiar faith to the point of insanity, will fully acknowledge that it is impotent and vain for men to stand against the natural and inevitable progress of the age in an endeavor to divide the material interest and civilization of this country. It must be and remain "one and indivisible" in order that the nation may endure and prosper. The question of a unity as against a duality of principal, which means for a common country no principal at all, has been finally settled by the arbitrament of war and any appeal from that finality must result, as it has done already in the overthrow of those who rashly dare the attempt!!

BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN.

BELLEFONTE, PA.

EVENING BRINGS US HOME.

I'm dreaming alone on an islet
In the deep and murm'ring sea,
And the song of its rippling waters
Is melody sweet to me.

It rose in rough waves this morning,
That foamed upon its breast;
But a hush has fallen upon it—
Evening has brought it rest.

With white sails furled, the fishermen
Back to the shore have come;
They are resting now at their cabin doors
Evening has brought them home.

The sea-bird's wings are tired at last
Of their flight across the foam,
They are folded now in her rocky nest—
Evening has brought her home.

I'm dreaming of my long journey
Across this stormy world,
And the hour when my boat will anchor
And its tattered sails be furled.

Many a friend has gone from me,
Very far away are some;
But this whisper dries the tear-drops—
Evening will bring them home.

Some may have perhaps forgotten me,
On the battle-field of life,
But a bond unites our severed hearts,
We are partners in the strife.

And some—their hearts were blighted
In the early dawn of day;
Their sky is dark with stormy clouds,
Life is very cold and gray.

Others are very faint and worn
In the heat of noonday sun;
They raise their burning hands and cry,
O! when will day be done?

Ye may cease your weary moaning,
There are angels at your side,
Who will lead you through this furnace
To the calm, cool eventide.

Perhaps they had once in sorrow
Across this earth to roam;
But that passed away for ever
When evening brought them home.

The crimson cloudlets are glowing
Above the water's breast:
Over the ripples there is a line
Of gold that leads to rest.

The west gets redder and redder,
The shadows are very long,
The time for slumber is coming,
And the hour for even-song.

Lovely and fair is the morning,
Bright in God's glorious sun;
But weary spirits rest at eve,
When the long, long day is done.

REPUBLICAN PARTY RECORD.

A brief recapitulation of the various measures enacted by the Republican party, during its ten years of power, in behalf of the cause of liberty and equal political and civil rights to all men, without regard to race or color, will be a matter of useful information to our readers at this time, and aid them in coming to a just and correct decision as to the party they can most safely trust hereafter.

The first blow at the "Divine" institution of slavery was a bill, which became a law in August, 1861, confiscating all property and setting free all slaves used in aid of the Rebellion.

January 25, 1862, a law was passed prohibiting the use of the jails of the District of Columbia for imprisonment of fugitive slaves.

The great measure emancipating the three thousand slaves of the District passed both Houses of Congress, and was signed by the President in April, 1862.

On the 13th of March, 1862, a bill became a law forbidding and punishing the return of fugitive slaves coming into our lines, by naval and military officers.

March 6, of the same year the President had recommended the passage of a joint resolution proposing a co-operation between the General Government and the slave States for the general abolition of slavery, on the principle of compensation to the owners. During the month a bill covering this suggestion passed both Houses, and was signed by the President April 10.

The bill abolishing the long-existing, odious distinctions in the District against the colored people, such as taxing them for the education of white children and denying them all benefit from the tax, became a law in May, 1862.

June 19, 1852, the President signed a bill, which had passed both Houses, prohibiting slavery forever in all the Territories of the United States.

June, 1862, a law was enacted establishing diplomatic relations with the republics of Liberia and Hayti.

In July of the same year, a law passed, conferring upon colored persons the right to testify in courts of justice; also, prohibiting the inter State coast wise slave trade.

In July, 1862, a bill became a law emancipating slaves coming within our lines whose masters were in rebellion and all slaves found in places captured by our troops.

July 7, 1862, President Lincoln approved a bill punishing the infamous practice of using the American flag for the protection of vessels engaged in the slave trade, in open defiance, as had grown to be the practice, of a plain constitutional provision. Under the provisions of this act, one Gordon, captured while engaged in the slave trade, was tried, convicted and executed.

July 17, 1862, a law was enacted authorizing the enlistment and military organization of colored men.

September 22, 1862, President Lincoln issued a proclamation declaring that on the 1st of January ensuing he should issue another, proclaiming all persons free in such states as might be named. And on that day the immortal declaration declaring all slaves forever free in Arkansas, Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Florida, North and South Carolina, and Virginia, was issued.

March, 1863, a law was enacted incorporating an institution for the education of colored youths, to be located in this District, from which has grown up the Howard University.

A law was enacted in February, 1864, enrolling all colored men, whether slaves or not, into the national forces, allowing loyal masters a bounty of $300 for their slaves—afterwards reduced to $100 bounty. But this was wholly repealed in 1867.

On the 11th of June, 1864, a bill became a law placing colored soldiers on a footing of equality in all respects with white soldiers.

June 28, 1864, a bill was signed repealing the infamous Democratic fugitive-slave law.

In 1864 a law was passed allowing colored men to contract for carrying the mails.

The year before, the act was passed prohibiting all distinctions on account of sace or color in the public conveyances of this District.

The law creating to Freedman's Bureau was passed early in the year 1865.

January 27, 1865, the famous thirteenth amendment to the Constitution, which had previously been approved by the Senate, passed the House of Representatives, forever abolishing slavery in the United States.

During this year acts were passed repealing various measures enacted by the Southern States under Johnson's rule, designed to re-establish slavery in another form, authorizing the disgraceful apprenticeship system, the law in regard to vagrancy, and authorizing the whipping of negroes.

The same year a law was passed abolishing the system of peonage slavery in New Mexico.

In December, 1865, a resolution passed both Houses of Congress appointing the joint Committee on Reconstruction, to whom was referred the credentials of all persons claiming seats from Johnson's reconstructed States, and all measures in regard to reconstruction.

February 28, 1866, an act was passed declaring that none of the rebel States were entitled to representation in Congress until Congress shall have declared such right.

In April, 1866, the civil rights bill, which Johnson had vetoed, became a law by receiving the necessary two-thirds majority.

June 13, 1865, the fourteenth amendment was passed, making all persons born or naturalized in the United citizens, prohibiting the States from passing any law which shall abridge the annuities or privileges of such citizens, defining who shall be Senators or Representatives, protecting the civil rights of all citizens, declaring that the validity of the public debt shall never be questioned, and prohibiting the United States and the several States from ever assuming or paying the rebel debt, and rendering it illegal and voted.

In December, 1866, Congress passed over Johnson's veto an act establishing universal suffrage in the District of Columbia.

In January, 1867, a bill was passed declaring that within no territory of the United States should suffrage be denied on account of race, color, or former condition.

In February, 1867, the fifteenth amendment, securing to colored men the right of suffrage, and forever prohibiting its withdrawal, passed both branches of Congress.

In March, 1869, a law was passed striking the word white from all the ordinances of the District of Columbia, destroying all discrimination against colored men in such laws or ordinances.

In May, 1870, the bill known as the enforcement act, became a law, its object being to protect colored men in all the rights to which other citizens are entitled.

In April, 1871, Congress passed what is known as the Ku Klux act, giving the President power to protect the loyal people of the South against organized bands of assassins, and rendering the people of a county or city, under certain conditions, responsible for the damages done therein by these outlaws.

Such, briefly, are the leading measures adopted by a Republican Congress, and sanctioned and sustained by the Republican party, for securing to the colored people of the nation the boon of liberty and the right of equal American citizenship.

As a "companion-piece" to this long list of acts, in the interest of justice and humanity, we ought, perhaps, to publish the record of the Democratic party in behalf of slavery, wrong and outrage.

But it can hardly be necessary, at least until the wounds inflicted upon the backs of the four millions of ex-slaves have had time to heal. If colored men bear no malice against their Democratic owners, they will not be apt to forget who fastened and who broke their chains.

NEVER hold any one by the button or the hand, in order to be heard out; for if people are unwilling to hear you, you had better hold your tongue than them.

Words Of Wisdom.

The press of the State is inclined, we are happy to notice, to enforce the lessons to be drawn from the recent trial and conviction of young Ward, of Towanda. There are many important points for consideratiton in the following from the Harrisburg State Journal:

The Ward-Shader trial, and the conviction of Ward for manslaughter, has elicited much comment from the press, an article from the Williamsport Gazette which we reprinted yesterday, indicating the view taken by journalists on the subject. It is due to the people that such affairs be discussed in all their relations, that, after a fair jury trial has disposed of the accused therein, public opinion and admonition be heard thereon. But there are causes leading to results like that of the Ward-Shader manslaughter anterior to those attending the debauch immediately before the sanguinary deed, for which the parents of both parties are to blame. Ward is the son of a rich man—of parents who petted and indulged him from his boyhood—who put a man's purse in his pocket while they held him aloof from a man's work, and who allowed him every privilege, and encouraged all his whims while a boy, regarding all who refused to do the same as no "friend of the family." If a business arrangement was to be effected, in which he was to participate, it was sufficient to have it understood his father furnished the money, and therefore, he, while sharing the profits and the reputation thereof, was not expected to perform any of the useful labor therein. It was not to be expected of human nature, that a boy thus started, a young man thus relieved of all useful and honorable labor, could arrive at any other conclusion of so pitiful and mean a career but that which plunged Ward into murder. He became a loafer—only saved from the gutter because he had inherited a fortune. All he ate and wore was purchased with unearned money, and thus in idleness, surrounded by luxury, he proceeded from one debauch to another, from brutality at home and abroad, until in the exercise of a vulgar and maudlin hospitality, he murdered a guest at his own board, whom he had invited to his home to indulge in a libation and whom he shot while they were breaking bread and eating salt. There is no pleasure in reciting such facts, but they are facts which every man and woman should know. They constitute warnings for rich men, who are rearing sons precisely as Ward was reared, in idle luxury, petted and pampered and held aloof from all useful employment. Every city is filled with such boys. They prowl the streets at night, and appear on our sidewalks in daylight, the pimps of fashion, patrons of small vices and the pride of little minded parents. All they learn is of excess, all they know is to be indulged at home and flattered abroad because they have money in their pockets. From these causes, in after years, we will have repeated results like that which put Ward in a penitentiary. We will have young wives heart-broken, children with stigma of blood on their names, and all because the vulgar use of money in a preceding generation, led purse-proud parents to believe that wealth was the road to honor and usefulness instead of making honor and usefulness the road to peace and happiness. If young Ward had been taught to earn what he consumed, and reard to a life of industry and thrift, the chances are as ninety-nine to one that he would have escaped the blood of a friend on his hands, and not have found himself the occupant of a felon's cell before he is thirty years of age. The lesson and its results is one well worthy the study of rich men.

Self Esteem.

A man may be addicted to many vices and yet there may be a hope of reclaiming him. But the moment he loses all sense of character and all consciousness of a superior nature—that is, the moment he begins to look upon himself and his vices as worthy of one another—that moment all hope of reclaiming him perishes; for the last ground is surrendered on which it is possible for his remaining good principles to rally and make a stand. We have often known men who have retained their self-respect long after they have lost their regard for principle; but never one who retained his regard for principle after he had lost his self respect. Destroy this, and you destroy everything; for a man who does not respect himself respects nothing.

CONSTANT EMPLOYMENT.—To be constantly busy is to be always happy. Persons who have suddenly acquired wealth, broken up their active pursuits, and begun to live at their ease, waste away and die in a very short time. Ye who are sighing for the pomp and splendor of life, beware! Ye know not what ye wish. No situation, however exalted no wealth, however magnificent; no honors, however glorious, can yield you solid enjoyment while discontent lurks in your bosom. The secret of happiness lies in this—to be always contented with your lot. Persons who are always busy and go cheerfully to their daily tasks, are the least disturbed by the fluctuations of business, and at night sleep with perfect composure.

A SNAKE IN THE GRASS.

BY JOHN G. SAXE.

Come, listen awhile to me, my lad,
Come, listen to me for a spell!
Let that terrible drum
For a moment be dumb,
For your uncle is going to tell
What befell
A youth who loved liquor too well.

A clever young man was he my lad,
And with beauty uncommonly blessed,
Ere with brandy and wine
He began to decline
And behaved like a person possessed;
I protest
The temperance plan is the best.

One evening he went to a tavern, my lad,
He went to a tavern one night,
And drinking too much
Rum, brandy, and such,
The chap got exceedingly "tight,"
And was quite
What your aunt would entitle a "fright."

The fellow fell into a snooze, my lad;
'Tis a horrible slumber he takes—
He trembles with fear,
And acts very queer;
My eyes! how he shivers and shakes
When he wakes,
And raves about horrid great snakes!

'Tis a warning to you and to me, my lad;
A particular caution to all—
Though no one can see
The viper but he—
To hear the poor lunatic bawl,
"How they crawl
All over the floor and the wall!"

Next morning he took to his bed, my lad;
Next morning he took to his bed,
And he never got up
To dine or to sup,
Though properly physiced and bled;
And I read
Next day the poor fellow was dead.

You've heard of the snake in the grass, my lad,
Of the viper concealed in the grass:
But now you must know,
Man's deadliest foe
Is a snake of a different class!
Alas!
'Tis a viper that lurks in the glass!

Get a Home and Keep It.

A large proportion of the American people are restless, roving, scattering, driven about from place to place by every spring freshet of popular excitement. Their desire of quick gains and their perpetual motion wears them out prematurely. They build houses for life-time residences, and are ready to sell out their newly-built homestead a week after it is finished—for perhaps less than it cost—and off they go, perpetually swinging around the circle of chronic change. To the pleasures of home and neighborhood attachment, to repose of feeling and content of mind, and love of objects around them, they are strangers. The fruition of trees they plant, they rarely witness. Of all their possessions, they have nothing home like to gladden their hearts. The gardens they lay out, the furniture they buy, and the houses they build, afford no pleasant home-loving memories. After wearing out half a life time in perpetual change of habitation, with little gain and great loss, they see in their past career only failure! Habits wayward, the mind perplexed, the purpose cowed, their energies baffled and disappointed, they surrender to fate and accept, in moody despair, their abject situation; and often, with conscience seared and morals wrecked, without friends or home, they settle down too late, and die among strangers.

A good home, and the queen of the homestead, a good wife, are essential to the happiness of every man, and nothing will so surely attach children to parents and to home virtues as a life-long homestead, the memories of which grew in delight with every increasing year.

Drunkenness A Disease.

We see the American Association for the Cure of Inebriates, in session in New York, has adopted a resolution recommending the treatment of drunkenness as a disease; but whether as a disease of the mind or body is not stated. We believe it is more closely allied to insanity than to any merely physical ailment. It is perhaps oftener the result of habit or education than of any physical derangement. We see it stated that the Boston Inebriate Asylum relies mainly on moral forces. If the patient is in bad health, he is doctored accordingly. How much depends on good digestion and its consequent vigor of body and mind, we have never seen stated. But it seems to us—unscientific as we are—that a large share of the ills that the mind as well as flesh is heir to, are attributable to bad digestion. It is perhaps a question whether a man can be perfectly moral and upright without at least good digestion; and we are inclined to go with those philosophers who consider under-feeding the patient of more diseases than over-feeding. Education and association are wonderful, and do more than anything else to develop drunkenness and crime. If the taste for strong drink is not early acquired, it seldom is acquired at all. We have ten institutions for educating our young men in the use of strong drinks to one for making them sober and industrious. The wonder is, therefore, that we have so few drunkards and criminals, and not that we have so many.

The horse disease has reached Titusville. A fine animal valued at $1,000, and belonging to Mr. Jonathan Watson, was suddenly stricken down and died the other day.

Rev. Thomas Craig, D. D., pastor of the Presbyterian church, Mercersburg, delivered his fortieth anniversary sermon on Sunday last.

What is Happiness?

That depends much upon organization and development. Happiness, speaking in the true sense of the word increases as sensibility develops, and decreases as excitability grows. The activity of lower forces of mind partake strongly of the physical excitement; whereas the activity of the higher group is higher, more natural, less excitable and more enjoyable. The more excitement there is in pleasure the more it is adulterated. Those low in the scale of development define happiness as a "good time," where joviality and uproarious boisterousness rule the hour; while the person of higher development might not be able to find more happiness than in the woods, silent and alone, meditating' or with a book before him, or may be no more than the grandeur of nature there to be seen. Let an Irish picnic go into the woods one day; and one composed of the most cultivated classes—artists, poets, philosophers, statesmen, &c.—on the next. A befter illustration could not be found. The highest pleasures tranquilize, and the lowest excite and intoxicate. The happiness of life will depend upon where a man places his centre. If he makes his centre in the basilar faculties he will reap corruption; if he makes the centre in the coronal faculties he will reap life everlasting. The great majority of men would be satisfied if they could have warmth, joy, food sleep, and the excitemen of war or intoxication. The human system cannot generate enough of happiness to fill out the whole being. All our faculties cannot operate at once. Therefore distributive and successive happiness is the order of nature, and this distribution must take place on settled principles. Every man ought to determine what part of his mind he will live by. The great majority of men live in the cellar of the soul. It is time that the parlor should be more occupied, and books, and pictures, and music take the place of whiskey barrels, potato bins and pork barrels.

Marital Privacy.

Preserve the privacies of your house, your marriage state, and your hearts, from father, and mother, sister, and all the world. Between you two let no third person come, to share the secret joy or grief that belongs to yourselves alone. Do you two, with God's help, build your own quiet world—not allowing the dearest of earthly friends to be confidants of aught that concerns your domestic peace. Let moments of alienation, if they occur, be healed and forgotten in after moments and years of faithful, devoted love; but never let the wall of another's confidence be built up between you and your wife's or husband's heart. Promise this to yourselves and to each other. Review the vow at every temptation; you will find your account in; your souls will grow, as it were, together, and at last become one. Ah, if many a young pair had on their wedding day known this all-important secret, how many marriages would have deen happier than alas, they are!

The Dying Never Weep

It is a striking fact that the dying never weep. The sobbing, the heart-breaking agony of the circle of friends around the death bed, call forth no responsive tears from the dying. Is it because he is already insensible, and stiff in the chill of dissolution? That cannot be, for he asks for his father's hand, as if to gain strength in the mortal struggle, and leans on the breast of a mother, sister or brother, in still conscious affection. Just before expiring he calls the loved ones, and with quivering lips says, "Kiss me!" showing that the love which he has ever borne in his heart is still fresh and warm. It must be because the dying have reached a point too deep for earthly sorrows, too transcendant for weeping. They are face to face with higher and holier things, with the Father in Heaven and his angels. There is no weeping in that blessed abode to which he is hastening.

A King's Palace.

The Escurial is the palace of the kings of Spain, one of the largest and most magnificent in the world. It was commenced by Philip II., in the year 1562, and the first cost of its erection was 6,000,000, of ducats. It forms a vast square of polished stone, paved with marble. It may give some notion of the surprising grandeur of this place to observe that, according to the computation of Francisco de los Santos, it would take more than four days to go through all the rooms and apartments, the length of the way being reckoned thirty-three Spanish leagues, which is above one hundred and twenty English miles. There are fourteen thousand doors and eleven thousand windows belonging to the edifice.

There is a lively demand at present for the new United States bonds in the European market.

Boston consumes seventy gallons of water per day for every man woman and child in the city.

WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS.

IS THE SUSPENSION OF THE HABEAS CORPUS IN SOUTH CAROLINA, BY PROCLAMATION OF THE PRESIDENT, JUSTIFIABLE?

The writ of Habeas Corpus, in every free State, is the sacred palladium of a free citizen; for it accords to every citizen, who is arrested and imprisoned, the right to appear before the bar of the Court and demand that the cause of his arrest and accusation be strictly examined and determined.

The writ of Habeas Corpus, therefore is the most important safe-guard against any illegal or forcible deprivation of a man's freedom.

Nevertheless the President in his proclamation of the 18th of October, suspends the writ of Habeas Corpus in nine counties of South Carolina.

The Democratic and Southern press, in consequence of this, accuse the President of a violation of the Constitution and characterize this suspension of the Habeas Corpus, an act of violence and without authority. We will briefly and impartially examine the case.

It is true that the Constitution declares that the writ of Habeas Corpus shall be suspended only in cases of invasion and rebellion for the safety of the State. The question, therefore, arise; Does a rebellion exist in South Carolina, which warrants a suspension of the writ of Habeas Corpus for the general safety of the State? Undoubtely! For, according to our common law, rebellion signifies a forcible opposition and resistence to the laws and proper authorities. It is not necessary that in a rebellion, its aim should be the overthrow of the Government, for in that case the rebellion would amount to treason. It has, however, been proved, beyond doubt, that in the Southern States lawless armed bands have violently assailed and injured the life, property and the freedom of American citizens. The existence of these criminal Ku-Klux bands has even been admitted by the Democratic press.

The Act of Congress of 1870 (Ku-Klux Law) expressly declares, and with full right designates this conspiracy and combination of these bands of Ku-Klux a rebellion, it being a forcible resistance to the laws and a forcible conspiring against the most sacred rights of man to life, liberty and property. The act of Congress further authorizes the President, in the prosecution of these bands of Ku-Klux, to suspend the writ of Habeas Corpus. The President is in duty bound to strictly execute every law of Congress; he is, therefore, in a legal sense fully justified in suspending the writ of Habeas Corpus in the South; for he must satisfy the law. We will present however, another point which not alone proves the necessity and justness of the suspension of the writ but likewise its expediency.

Let it be conceded for a moment that the writ of Habeas Corpus, were not suspended in South Carolina, what would then be the consequences? As soon as the U. S. marshal with the aid of the soldiers as his posse would have seized and arrested these bands of Ku-Klux, the same would immediately apply to their StateCourts and employ the writ of Habeas Corpus in such a mnner as to cause the State Courts forthwith to release them. The fact has been positively proven that the StateCourts in the South partly through fear and terrorism, and partly through sympathy with these lawless bands of Ku-Klux have never condemened or sentenced a single one of these cut-throats, but have released every one of them. After the suspension of the Habeas Corpus no State Court has the right or power to protect these criminals for after their arrest by the U. S. marshal only Federal Judges are invested with power to try them.

In connection with this a gross error of the Democratic press must be corrected. It contends that in the nine counties of South Carolina martial law has been proclaimed. The proclamation of the 18th of October declares nothing of the kind; a legal judicial course is pursued and not a court martial under martial law.

The arrests of these rebellious criminals by the U. S. marshals is progressing vigorously, so that the Ku Klux everywhere are routed and overpowered and peace, order, safety, and law will soon again reign supreme in the the land. Finally we would call attention to the fact that those bands of Ku Kluk like an epedemic infect and pervade the different classes of Southern society so that even the most respectable citizens of the South sympathise with these criminals. It was therefore, high time to interfere with preventive measures in order to execute the law with full right against these lawless and rebellious criminals—that preventive measure was the suspension of the writ of Habeas Corpus.

THE KU-KLUX REIGN OF TERROR.

SYNOPSIS OF A PORTION OF THE TESTIMONY TAKEN BY THE CONGRESSIONAL INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE.

No. VII.

ALABAMA.

In the testimony taken before the Investigating Committee of Congress, relative to affairs in the State of Alabama, there is undoubted proof of the existence of the Ku Klux organization in many portions of the State. Their operations extend over a period embracing three or four years, during which they have perpetrated some of the most dastardly outrages that have ever been placed on record. The testimony against them is full and explicit, their objects and aims well known. That they act as an auxiliary to the Democratic party there can be no reasonable doubt.

Hon. William Miller, Collector of the port at Mobile, (a resident of Greene county, Alabama, since 1836, owning more land and paying more taxes, State and county, than any other man in Greene county,) testifies that the continued outrages in his county and State has affected the value of real estate very much, as the security of life, &c., is a very essential element in the market value of property. Thinks real estate has depreciated at least one third.

Witness was appointed judge of probate in 1868, but was unable to enter upon the duties of that office without the assistance of the military. At the election held in February, 1870, the Republicans were generaly deterred from voting.

In March, 1870, Mr. Boyd—a nephew of witness and prosecuting attorney or solicitor for Greene county—was brutally murdered by a band of persons in disguise, variously estimated at from twenty-five to fifty persons, who entered his room at a hotel in Eutaw and killed him while asleep. Two shots were found in his brain. No cause was assigned for this, except that he (Boyd) had previously stated that he had found out who were the murderers of some negroes who were hung by disguised bands. Mr. Boyd was born in South Carolina, but raised in Greene county.

On 28th February last, Nelsen Harris was arrested upon some charge, and about nine o'clock that night—according to the statement of those who had him in charge—he was taken out by five or six men who had their faces blacked, taken about three (3) miles from Union, where he was castrated and shot, his body being found in a creek.

James Martin, a colored man, was killed on the same night that Boyd was murdered.

In December, 1869, Sam. Colvin, Sam. Caldwell, and Henry Miller (the latter having once been the property of witness) were arrested on suspicion of having murdered one Sam. Snoddy, (white.) Henry Miller and Sam. Caldwell escaped from jail, after which Henry Miller was found dead a few days after, and Caldwell has never been seen since, although a skeleton was found afterwards supposed to be his. About this time Sam Colvin was taken from jail by a band of men, (supposed to be the same who murdered the other two,) and was found hung, with sixteen bullet holes in him.

The belk of these assaults and murders have arisen out of political causes, for which no prosecutions have been made.

Witness was present at a political meeting held in Eutaw in October last, at which Senator Warner and ex Governor Parsons were speakers, and which was finally broken up by the Democrats ending in a complete riot. There were two or three killed and about fifty-four wounded—all colored. Not a white man was hurt, yet none but the negroes were prosecuted for this riot.

Witness has been repeatedly insulted and assaulted.

Mr. Barton, candidate for Lieutenant Governor, was knocked down at Eutaw and left for dead.

A large majority of Greene county, are colored voters, when they come out and vote, but a great many told witness last fall they would not vote, that they could not vote, and that they dared not vote.

There is a complete reign of terrorism in several counties of the State to such an extent as to prevent the due execution of the law. The former Republican majority in Greene county, has been so changed by this system of intimidation that there is now a majority on the Democratic side. A Republican cannot openly express his sentiments in conversation or in a public meeting, and do so in safety.

Hon. Charles Hays, a member of the House of Representatives from the Fourth Congressional District—born and raised within a mile of where he now lives—and by occupation a planter, testifies that at the election held in Greene county, in 1868, his majority was about 2,200, while in the election which took place in 1870 it went Democratic. Thinks it would not be safe under any circumstances for a person to go into some portions of his district and make a Republican speech. There is not a man in the State disfranchised from voting, although some are disqualified from holding office.

Guilford Coleman, an intelligent colored man, who was a delegate to the convention that nominated the Governor, and also a delegate to the convention that nominated witness, was taken out of his house after his return from the convention by parties in disguise, and has never been heard of since.

Witness has frequently heard of negroes being taken from their homes by bands of men in disguise and terribly scourged. He was present at a political meeting in Eutaw, during which a riot occurred, resulting in the death of two or three colored men, and the wounding of about fifty others. After Senator Warner and ex-Governor Parsons had finished their speeches, the witness got upon the table to move an adjournment, but was pulled off the stand and roughly handled.

There is no doubt but that the outrages which have been committed were committed by organized bands—sometimes in disguise—sometimes not. This species of terrorism has had the effect of preventing any free expression of political sentiments in our State, especially Republican sentiments.

Witness was in the Confederate army, but because of his being an active Republican engaged in building up the Republican party, has consequently been under the odium that generally attaches to members of that party, and has at times felt very insecure as far as personal safety is concerned.

Hon. Willard Warner, (late United States Senator,) residing at Montgomery, testifies that while Governor Smith, ex-Governor Parsons, and himself were speaking at a political meeting at Lexington, Sumter county, they were repeatedly interrupted, insulted, and threatened by persons who had their pistols and bowieknives brandishing before the speakers.

Witness refers to the riot at Eutaw, and says that two years before, at the same place, he had been prevented by a mob from speaking.

Persons are afraid to testify as to these outrages before courts of justice, knowing that it would not be safe to do so.

There is no candid Democrat in the county or State but what would admit that if every man in Greene county was left free to vote just as he wanted to, just as you would do in Pennsylvania or Missouri, the county would give from 2,000 to 2,500 Republican majority.

Arthur A. Smith, formerly a clerk of the Circuit Court of Greene county, and County Superintendent of Schools, testifies that five school-houses were burned in that county and the teachers driven away. Says that whipping of negroes by disguised men were of frequent occurrence. Resigned his position as clerk of the court because he had been notified that he must resign, and felt that he could not live there in safety. Is now living in Choctaw county, carrying on a plantation.

William E. Cockerell testifies as to the beating of his father, an old man and a native of Alabama, because he was a witness against some parties who were arrested on suspicion of being concerned in the Eutaw riot.

Hon. B. W. Norris, a planter, living 14 miles from Montgomery, and formerly a member of the 40th Congress, testifies that he canvassed every one of the ten counties in his (3d) district, and that the white men there who were Republicans were afraid to identify themselves at all with the party, or give him even a friendly reception.

Witness was at Tuskagee, where Judge Rice and himself had been holding a political meeting, and at night the colored M. E. Church was fired into by a band of disguised men, one of the officers of the church being killed, and another so badly wounded that he died.

In this same county a colored man—the leader of the Republican party in the county and a member of the Legislature—and also his wife, were both shot as they were retiring at night.

In Chambers county, just before the last election, there was a brutal murder of a colored minister named Trammel, who was universally respected by all who knew him. He was murdered at night by disguised men.

In Tallapoosa county there were a great many whippings, and two men were shot and another killed just before the election; also about the same time or probably just after the election, there was a brutal murder of a young colored man in one of the precints of that county.

There is a complete reign of terror in Tallapoosa county, so that in most of the precints of that county not a Republican voted, white or black.

C. S. Cheny, who has lived in Chambers county all his life, says that he was an assistant assessor in that county, but left because personal friends and relatives (Democrats) told him that if the Democrats carried the State it would not be safe for him to live there.

Hon. Lewis E. Parsons, formerly Provisional Governor of the State, (a resident of Alabama for over 30 years,) testifies that the acts of violence which have been committed in his State were calculated to have, and did have, a decided effect upon the result of the elections, by deterring men from voting, &c.

On the 11th of July, 1870, William C. Luke, a white man and school-teacher, and four colored men named Tony Cliff, Berry Harris, Cæsar Frederick, and W. Hall were all put to death by a band of disguised men at a little village called Cross Plains.

On the same night, and by the same band of disguised men that perpetrated the above terrible outrages, Essex Hendricks, an old colored man, was put to death by hanging and shooting. Some eight persons were arrested charged with having been concerned in these murders, but the grand jury declined to find any bill against them.

Upon the investigation of these outrages the State (for whom the witness was acting as counsel) examined a witness named Lewis M. Force, who proved that he had been a member of the Ku Klux Klan.

Force's testimony as to a great many facts was fully corroborated by United States officers present. He stated that the organization in Alabama numbered from eight to ten thousand, and that in Georgia, where he was initiated, it numbered from ten to twelve thousand, with headquarters at Atlanta; that the object of the organization was to control the negro vote and defeat the Republican party in obtaining offices.

Force said that he joined the klan for the purpose of obtaining aid from the organization to procure the arrest of a white man who had committed rape upon his little daughter, about eleven or twelve years old. He succeeded in arresting the man, and lodged him in the Cherokee county jail. Afterwards he was called on by the klan to aid in liberating this man, and the reason given for it was that this man (who had committed the rape) and his friends had, during the previous year, aided in liberating from jail the head man of the Ku Klux order, who was in jail at Summerville, Chattooga county, Georgia. Force declined to aid them in liberating this man, and told them if their purpose was to release men charged with such crimes, that he would have nothing further to do with their organization.

Not only was Force's testimony in regard to facts (outesid of the klan) fully corroborated, but I was told by prominent men, such as Judge Haroldsen and others, that he was a man whose testimony could be relied upon.

In repeated instances, in Calhoun Co., colored men have been taken out from their homes and in some instances have been shot and seriously wounded, and in others killed. In one instance, in this county, a party of these fiends went to the house of a colored man, drove him away, and committed rape upon his wife.

Judge Luther R. Smith, a resident of Choctaw county, elected circuit Judge of the seventh judicial district in 1868, testifies that while he was absent from his plantation on business at Mobile, a party of men came to his home and burned a steam mill and engine, also a bridge, and about two miles of fencing.

Nathaniel Edwards, a colored man, living in Pickens county, was murdered by a band of men in disguise just before the election. In 1869 numerous outrages were reported in Pickens county.

In Sumpter county the house of Mr. Chotteau (who had been notified by the Ku Klux to leave) was attacked at night by disguised men. A man by the name of Coblentz, (an Irishman,) who was in the house at the time guarding it, returned the fire and killed one of their number. Coblentz was also killed.

One or two persons were indicted for being concerned in the above, and witness summoned, but the witness afterwards learned from the solicitor of the county that, with the exception of Mr. Chotteau, who had left the county, every one of the witnesses had been killed in the county within six months after the indictment was found.

In Sumpter county the sheriff and probate judge both received notices from the Ku Klux Klan ordering them, under the severest penalties, to relinquish their offices, and having both resigned, the witness was unable to hold court there.

A man by the name of Latham, (white) a minister of the Gospel, was taken out, severely whipped, and his money taken from him.

In Clay county witness was told (and thinks that the records show) that there have been eight (8) murders in that county within the last twelve or eighteen months.

A MONSTROUS MISTAKE.—"Chronic Dyspepsia can't be cured," say the Doctors. Heaven forgive them! Can't be cured! Why Hoofland's German Bitters and Hoofland's Tonic have cured five thousand dyspeptics within the last year! No man or woman affecteb with indisposition ever tried these matchless vegetable stomachics without experiencing immediate relief. In acute Dyspepsia, the Bitters (which contain no alcohol) remove every sympton, and effect a perfect and permanent renovation of the digestive functions in a week or ten days, and in chronic cases, the Tonic (which is also a diffusive stimulant) acts with almost electric rapidity upon the torpid stomach, restoring at once its gastric vigor, and the appetite of the invalid. Depot, No. 631 Arch street, Philadelphia, Pa. Sold by all Druggists.

One hundred and thirty pounds of honey were recently taken from one hive in Catawba county, North Carolina.

Vermont has over twenty houses which are seventy-five years old, and one church built in 1767.

THE AMERICAN WASHER?
PRICE $5.50

THE AMERICAN WASHER SAVES MONEY, TIME, AND DRUDGERY.

The Fatigue of Washing Day no Longer Dreaded, but Economy, Efficiency, and Clean Clothing, Sure.

In calling public attention to this little machine, a few of the invaluable qualities, (not possessed by any other washing machine yet invented,) are here enumerated.

It is the smallest, most compact, most portable, most simple in construction, most easily operated. A child ten years old, with a few hours' practice, can thoroughly comprehend and effectually use it. There is no adjusting, no screws to annoy, no delay in adapting! It is always ready for use! It is a perfect little wonder! It is a miniature giant, doing more work and of a better quality, than the most elaborate and costly. One half of the labor is fully saved by its use, and the clothes will last one-half longer than by the old plan of the rub board. It will wash the largest blanket. Three shirts at a time, washing thoroughly! In a word, the ablution of any fabric, from a Quilt to a Lace Curtain or Cambric Handkerchief, are equally within the capacity of the LITTLE GEM! It can be fastened to any tub and taken of at will

No matter how deep rooted a prejudice may exist against Washing Machines, the moment this little machine is seen to perform its wonders, all doubts of its cleansing efficacy and utility are banished, and the doubter and detractor at once becomes the fast friends of the machine.

We have testimonials without end, setting forth its numerous advantages over all others, and from hundreds who have thrown aside the unwieldy, useless machines, which have signally failed to accomplish the object promised in prominent and loud sounding advertisements.

It is as perfect for washing as a wringer is for wringing. The price another paramount inducement to purchasers, has been placed so low that it is within the reach of every housekeeper and there is no article of domestic economy that will repay the small investment so soon.

All that is asked for this GREAT LABOR SAVER, is a fair trial. We guarantee each machine to do its work perfectly.

The Love of the Beautiful.

Place a young lady under the care of a kind-hearted, graceful woman, and she, unconsciously to herself, grows to be a graceful lady. Place a boy in the establishment of a thorough-going, straightforward, business man, and the boy becomes a self-reliant, practical business man. Children are susceptible creatures, and circumstances, scenes and actions, always impress them. As you influence them not by arbitrary rules, not by stern example alone, but in the thousand other ways that speak through smiles, soft utterances, and pretty scenes, so will they grow. Teach your children to love the beautiful. Give them a corner in the garden for flowers; encourage them to put in shape the hanging baskets; allow them to have their favorite trees; lead them to wander in the prettiest woodland; show them where they can best view the sunset; rouse them in the morning, not with the stern, "time to work," but with the gentle, "see the beautiful sun-rise; buy for them pretty pictures, and encourage them to decorate their rooms, each in his or her childish way. This instinct is in them. Allow them the opportunity, and they will make your homes lovely.

Served them Right.

There is a provision of the divorce law of England which might wisely be introduced in this country. In a celebrated case, recently tried, a husband, whose wife had an income of £5.000 a year settled on her for life, sued for a divorce on the ground of adultery, making the alleged adulterer a co-respondent, and asking for damages against him. In rendering judgment, the Judge Lord Penzance, exercised the discretion vested in him by statute, and not only condemned the co-respondent to pay £1,500 damages to the husband, but declared his wife's life interest under her settlements terminated, as if she were dead, thus placing her entire fortune in the hands of the husband, to be used for the benefit of the children. This was done to prevent the guilty parties from leaving the burden of rearing the children of the marriage on the husband, while they lived in ease on the wife's private property. The English press applaud the judgement, and intimate that the main inducement to the seduction of the wife in the mind of her paramour was the expectation of living on her money.

Good Counsel.

No young man can hope to rise in society, or perform worthily his part in life, without a fair moral character. The basis of such a character is a virtuous, fixed sense of moral obligation, sustained and invigorated by the fear and love of God. The youth who possesses such a character can be trusted. Integrity, justice, benevolence, truth, are not with him words without meaning; he feels and knows their sacred import, and aims in the tenor of his life to exemplify the virtues they express. Such a man has decision of character; he knows what is righ., and is firm in pursuing it; he think- and acts for himself, and is not to be made the tool of unprincipled and time-serving politicians to do the dirty work of party. Such a man has true worth of character; his life is a blessing to himself, to his family, to society, and to the world; and he is pointed out to future generations as a proper example for the rising youth to emulate.

ITS REAL VALUE.—What is a man's wealth to him when he is racked and tormented with aches and pains? Many a rich man would give all his piles of gold for one night's sleep. Nay, money stands to him in lieu of health, since he sacrificed health for the sake of obtaining money, which cannot assuage one pang, nor lesson one mischief, nor heart-break, nor supply one affection.

FARM AND HOUSEHOLD

Corn Fodder for Soiling.

The discusions at the September meeting of the western New York Dairymen's association, as given in the American Rural Home contain the opinions and practice of several distinguished farmers which we give here in condensed from, with some deductions of our own.

Lewis F. Allen planted an acre of sweet corn, which grew two and a half feet high-dense sowing always causing low growth. When it began to tassel he began feeding it to sixteen cows, weighing the fodder. About forty-five pounds of green food were fed to each cow daily. This, according to our own experiments with drying fodder. would be equivalent to from 20 to 25 of dried fodder The acre lasted three weeks and two days, and furnished eight and a quarter tons. This is about a fair medium crop; allowing loss of one-half in drying, it would be about four tons of dry fodder per acre. This would be sufficient to last one cow 368 days, or a full year, according to the feeding here stated. After the sweet corn was gone, the cows were given green fodder from Ohio corn, which they seemed to relish as well. The yield of this was much larger in amount. As the animals ran in pasture, they doubtless obtained a small additional portion of their food from the grass; but the acre of Ohio corn would probably more than supply all the food for one cow through the whole year. During the feeding with corn fodder there was "a perceptible increase in milk and a large increase in butter"—which could not be attributed ta the cooler weather, as the milk was always kept in a uniform temperature in ice coolers.

E. W. Stewart said Mr. Fry raised fooder in drills, dropping it in every third furrow, cultivating and raising enough to feed 105 cows four days from an acre, or equivalent to feeding one cow 420 days, a result not greatly different from that of Mr. Allen's experiment. Seth Fenner raised corn fodder as the great standard crop for soiling. He regarded it as indispensable, and said the common error was in not beginning early enough. He found green oats an excellent crop to precede the corn—from the time the head begins to form till the grain was in milk. Mr. Pierce highly approved of green fodder, but had not found it capable of increasing milk after this had once fallen off. This corroborates the opinion of Seth Fenner that the feeding should be commenced early.

Two members dissented from the general opinion of the great value of corn fodder, preferring to raise in the oridnary way, and feed the ground meal.

For curing and storing the fodder Mr. Baker found the best method was to allow it to wilt a few days after cutting, then place it in the barn in alternate layers with dry straw, each layer about eight inches thick. The straw absorbes the juice from the stalks and prevents heating and moulding. Much would doubtless depend on the previous amount of drying to insure success. Corn stalks, after drying several weeks contain enough water to spoil any large stack in three days, and it would be important to see that there is plenty of straw as an absorbent. This remark applies to corn fodder thickly sown; which packs solidly in the stack, and not to common fodder obtained by husking the ears from it, which does not pack so closely, and may be stacked after husking with safety.

The advantages of raising fodder from thickly sown corn referred to in the preceding discussions, over the common crop for grain, are briefly these: Being sown at the rate of some three bushels per acre, it forms no ears, and consequently there is no exhaustion of the richness of the stalks or of the fertility of the land. For this reason we have found by experiment that a succession of corn fodder crops leaves the ground better than they found it, more being left in the soil by the roots than is carried off in stalk and leaf. Another advantage is the readiness with which the crop may be sown on any waste piece of ground that can be plowed, a week to a month later than it would do to plant a common crop. Still another advantage is the dense shading of the ground; so that after the cultivator has been passed between the drills two or three times, the weeds all perish, and the whole surface, when the fodder is cut, is as clean as a floor. For this reason we never sow broadcast, but always in furrows or drills. A good crop will yield six tons of dry fodder, and at thirty pounds a day for a cow, an acre would keep a cow more than thirteen months, or its equivalent with a greater number of cattle for a shorter time.—Cultivator.

Hoofland's German Bitters.

A Bitters without Alcohol or Spirits of any kind.

Is different from all others. It is composed of the pure Juices, or VITAL PRINCIPLE OF ROOTS, HERBS, and BARKS, (or, as medicinally termed, Extracts,) the worthless or inert portions of the ingredients not being used. Therefore in one Bottle of this Bitters there is contained as much medicinal virtue as will be found in several gallons or ordinary mixtures. The Roots, &c., used in this Bitters are grown in Germany, their vital principles extracted in that country by a scientific Chemist, and forwarded to the manufactory in this city, when they compounded and bottled. Containing no spirituous ingredients, this Bitters is free from the objections urged against all others: no desire for stimulants can be induced from their use, they cannot make drunkards, and cannot under any circustances, have any but a beneficial effect.

Hoofland's German Tonic.

Was compounded for those not incined to extreme bitters, and is intended for use in cases when some alcoholic stimulant is required in connection with the Tonic properties of the Bitters. Each bottle of the tonic contains one bottle of the Bitters, combined with pure SANTA CRUZ RUM, and flavored in such a manner that the extreme bitterness of the bitters is overcome forming a preparation highly agreeable and pleasant to the palate, and containing the medicinal virtues of the Bitters. The price of the Tonic is $1,50 per Bottle, which many persons think too high. They must take into consideration that the stimulant used is guaranteed to be of a pure quality. A poor article could be furnished at a cheaper price, but is it not better to pay a little more and have a good article? A medicinal preparation should contain none but the best ingredients; and they who expect to obtain a cheap compound, and be benefittad by it, will most certainly be cheated.

HON. JAS. M. WOOD, Ex-Mayor of Williamsport, Pa.
I take great pleasure in recommending "Hoofland's German Tonic" to any one who may be afflicted with Dyspepsia. I had the Dyspepsia so badly it was impossible to keep any food on my stomach, and I became so weak, as not to be able to walk half a mile. Two bottles of Tonic effected a perfect cure. JAMES M. DR. HOOFLAND'S
PODOPHYLLIN,
Or Substitue for Mercury Pills.
TWO PILLS A DOSE.
The Most Powerful, Yet Innocent Vegetable Cathartic Known.

It is not necessary to take a handful of these Pills to produce the desired effect; two of them act quickly and powerfully, cleansing the Liver, Stomach and Bowels all impurities. The principal ingredient is Podophyllin, or the Alcoholic Extract of Mandrake, which is by many times more powerful, acting and searching than the Mandrake itself. Its peculiar action is upon the Liver, cleaning it speedily from all obstructions, with all the power of Mercury, yet free from the injurious results attached to the use of that mineral.

For all diseases, in which the use of a cathartic is indicated, these pills will give entire satisfaction in every case. They NEVER FAIL.

In cases of Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia and extreme costiveness, Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters or Tonic should be used in connection with the Pills. The tonic effect of the Bitters or Tonic builds up the system. The Bitters or Tonic purifies the Blood, strengthens the Nerves, REGULATES the Liver, and gives strength, energy and vigor.

Keep your Bowels active with the Pills, and tone up the system with Bitters or Tonic, and no disease can retain its hold, or ever assail you.

Recollect that it is DR. HOOFLAND'S GERMAN REMEDIES that are so universally used and highly recommended; and do not allow the Druggist to induce you to take anything else that he may say is just as good, because he makes a larger profit on it. These Remedies will be sent by Express to any locality, upon application to the PRINCIPAL OFFICE, at the GERMAN MEDICINE STORE, 631 Arch St., Philadelphia.

Medical.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attacks of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then on some favorable occasion, rapidly develop into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and, at length cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various Ulcerous affections of the muscular and nervous systems.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leycorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints; Torpidity, Congestion of Liver, and Jaundice, which arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor of the system. Those who are LANGUID and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

EVERLASTING FLOWERS.

I send thee but a single gift,
A little bunch of dry, crisp flowers,
Still rainbow-colored, though 'tis long
Since sunshine fed them, or the showers.

Mere phantoms of those thoughts of love
Whose flying seed from Eden blew;
God's hand in pity sent them forth,
If Talmud legends are but true.

Dear, promise me that when I'm dead,
You'll press within my clay-cold hand
The same bright everlasting flowers;
I'll bear them through the Silent Land.

I shall not need remembrances
Of thee, my own; but still I'll keep
These always with me through the dim,
Sad shadow of Death's long sleep.

Dark waters, in thy blackest gulf—
Dark valley, in thy ghastliest cleft,
I'll guard these bowers, the types of love,
Though nothing but these flowers be left.

Come flame and torture for my sins,
Or Mercy ope the golden portal,
Still, still I'll grasp these changeless flowers,
To prove my boundless love immortal.

Watchmaking in Switzerland.

The canton of Neuchatel contains three hundred and thirty-nine square miles and eighty-thousand inhabitants Its principal products are wine and watches. The wine is nearly all used for home consumption by the population and the traveling public, but the watches are exported all over the world. The principal watch-making place is La-Chaux-de Fonds, situated near the French frontier, and about three thousand feet above the level of the Mediterranean, or about one thousand six hundred and sixty feet above the Lake Neuchatel. The place has about seventeen thousand inhabitants, and produces about one-third of the watches made within the canton. The watch trade and watch exportation, which reaches the enormous figure of eighty million francs, are wholly concentrated there. Next to La-Chaux-de-Fonds for watch producing come Le Nocle and Neuchatel, each containing between eight and nine thousand inhabitants, the former situated near La-Chaux-de-Fonds, the latter on Lake Neuchatel There are also a number of smaller places where the business of watchmaking is carried on; while the manufacture of the single parts of watches extends all over the canton. The total number of watches made in Switzerland is 1,700,000, per year, of which Neuchatel produces more than one-half; Vaud and Geneva the remainder.

How to Keep a Situation.

It is a sad time just now for many who depend upon their salaries for the support of themselves and their families. So many are thrown out of employment because the times are so dull, their services are not needed in stores and workshops. But some men and boys are always retained. Do you know who are the fortunate ones? They are those who are most useful to their employers—those who do the work most thoroughly, and are the most obliging and economical.

Those young men who watch the time to see the very second their working hours are up, who leave, no matter what state the work may be in, at precisely the instant, who calculate the extra amount they can slight their work, and yet not get reproved, who are lavish of their employer's goods, will always be the first to receive notices that times are dull, and that their services are no longer wanted. Whatever your situation, lay it down as a foundation rule that you will be found "faithful in that which is least." Pick up the loose nails, bits of twine, clean wrapping paper, and put them in their places. Be ready to throw in an odd hour's time when it will be an accommodation, and don't seem to make a merit of it. Make yourself indispensable to him, and he will lose many of the opposite kind before he will part with you.

The New York Post Office.

Until very recently few people outside of New York seemed to realize how great was the need which is to be supplied by a new post office building there. The inadequacy of the present accommodations may be estimated by the following facts. Five hundred clerks and three hundred carriers are constantly employed. Three thousand bags of letters and printed matter, weighing in all upwards of one hundred and fifty tons, pass through the mail every day. The letters sent and received are nearly a million a day—the European mail alone amounting to over forty thousand. The new building is to be the largest post office in the country, but before its completion there will doubtless be a demand for more room, so rapid is the increase of correspondence every year. $1,200,000, have already been expended on the building and an additional sum of $1,500,000, will be used during the war.

THE IRON WORLD

Pittsburgh Business Directory!

THERE have been such repeated applications at our office and by mail for a Business Directory of this city, or a written list of names of manufacturers and business men, that we have determined to supply a long felt want, and to publish ourselves a Business Directory of Pittsburgh which shall be

COMPLETE & ACCURATE

And specially arranged

FOR EASE OF REFERENCE.

It is a fact, which none can dispute, that the present City Directory does not answer the purpose which this work will, and afford such information as would be of any value to a stranger desirous of finding, at a glance, the name and location of the parties he desires to deal with.

That our work may be well arranged, and thoroughly reliable, we have engaged JAMES L. BISHOP to superintend the canvass and compile it. He has had an experience of many years in this branch of the publishing business, and we are confident will bring out the finest publication of the kind ever issued in this city or elsewhere. A Directory of a city, and especially a Business Directory, requires the utmost accuracy and skill in its compilation, and none but those who have had much experience can bring out a creditable publication.

We intend to make this a work of great value to the business men of this city; and shall at our own expense, and to advertise our own publications, send copies of it to all prominent hotels, reading rooms and Boards of Trade in the United States.

This work will be issued on the finest and heaviest quality of book paper, and in a style of typography not to be surpassed. That it may prove advantageous to advertisers, the cards received for it will not be crowded all together at the end of the book, but occupy the left hand pages running through it, so that every person referring to the work must of necessity see and read the cards therein as they meet his eye.

BELLEFONTE, PA.

Wednesday Morning, Dec'ber 6, 1871.

NEWSPAPER LAWS.

We would call the special attention of postmasters and our subscribers to the followinw synopsis of the newspaper laws:

1. A postmaster is required to give notice by letter, (returning a paper does not answer the law,) when a subscriber does not take his paper out of the office, and state the reasons for its not being taken; and a neglect to do so makes the postmaster responsible to the publishers for the payment.
2. Any person who takes a paper faom the post-office, whether directed to his name or another's, or whether he has subscribed or not, is reponsible for the payment.
3. If a person orders his paper to be discontinued, he must pay all arrearages, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made, and collect the whole amount, whether it be taken from the office or not. There can be no legal discontinuance until the payment is made.
4. If the subscriber orders the paper to be stopped at a certain time, and the publisher continues to send it, the subscriber is bound to pay for it, if he takes it out of the post-office. The law proceeds upon the ground that a man must pay for what he uses.
5. The Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers and periodicals from the post-office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, is prima-facie evidence of intentional fraud.

BELLEFONTE has no small-pox.

MORE snow fell on Monday last.

YESTERDAY (Tuesday) morning was the coldest of the season.

E. G. H.—Your poem has been unavoidably crowded out this week. Will appear in our next.

REV. MR. KINSTER, of the Disciple's Church, delivered an able sermon, in the Lutheran church at this place, on Sabbath evening last.

THOSE of our subscribers, who called and paid, and those who sent in their subscriptions, will please accept our thanks. No thanks for those who have yet failed to respond to their bills.

WM. FEATON, Administrator of David Bechdle, late of Liberty twp., dec'd., will sell at public sale, on the 23d inst., a valuable property, situate in said twp. See advertisement in another column for terms, &c.

JAMES TEST, a resident of Philipsburg, this county, was sent to the lunatic asylum, at Harrisburg, by the court at this place, on Wednesday last. He was taken to Harrisburg by Deputy Sheriff Williams.

LIVERY STABLE.—Isaac Lose, who has one of the best livery stables in Central Pennsylvania has provided himself with a lot of new buggies, sleighs, &c. He has first rate stock, and is now prepared to accomodate his customors in all kinds of weather. See card in another column of the REPUBLICAN.

OUR colored population held a grand Festival on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings, realizing, as we are informed, a nice little sum, which will be the nucleus of a fund for building of a church, the site of which has been donated to them by our liberal townsman, Chester Munson.—Phillipsburg Journal.

A FIRE occurred at the United States hotel, Hollidaysburg, about nine o'clock on Wednesday night last, by which the second and third floors were completely destroyed. The fire was occasioned by a defective flue. The new fire department, which has been recently organized, was soon on the ground and rendered effective service.

THE "Excelsior" Lecture course, for this place has been abandoned. Cause—poor encouragement, on the occasion of "Nasby's" appearance, a short time since.

Persons holding tickets to the "Nasby" lecture which did not take place, can have their money refunded by returning their tickets to the Jewelry Store of F. P. Blair.

We would direct attention to Messrs. Bliss, Keene & Co's advertisement of Cundurango the new remedy for Cancer, Scrofula, and all diseases resulting from impure blood. The cures accomplished by this remedy, as reported, are truly marvellous. Messrs. Bliss, Keene &Co., are regular physicians of high standing, and thoroughly reliable.

Two persons were taken to the Western Penitentiary on Thursday last, by Sheriff Woodring, named respectively, — — Gates and John Delige. The former was sentenced for a term of 16 months for robbing a store in this county, a short time since, and the latter was sentenced to a 14 months term for assaulting and robbing a man in this place, two months since, of a watch and other valuables.

IN our perambulations the other day in search of 'locals,' we dropped in to see how our friends, the Messrs. Zimmerman Bros & Co., were getting along. We found them busy as bees, dealing out their wares to a regular jam of customers. This firm is doing a good business and are making things hum. They have an obliging corps of salesmen, and the way Jabe and Sam were "hopping" around was astonishing. We were informed that Irve was out in the country with the Singer wagon selling that celebrated machine. The Singer drew the premium last fall for being the best Sewing Machine. The above firm are the agents.

THANKSGIVING.—It is not our intention to write an essay upon Thanksgiving day or the custom which led to its observance, but it affords us pleasure to write, that the day was never so well and so fully observed in this town as was last Thursday. The court which was in session adjourned, the stores were all closed and only a few of them kept the back door open. This was not done at the request of the Proprietors; but was the result of a little jealously on the part of clerks—certain clerks who wanted to carry favor with the Proprietor. A Proprietor who would honor such a clerk does not deserve the patronage of a Christian community and that clerk or dozen of clerks who would act in this manner should at once quit the business and go into some other employment. They are not calculated for merchants. And now one word on our merchants. With one or two exceptions they all closed up the back as well as the front door, and to the credit of our town we are enabled to herald the fact that we have not only a christian but a loyal town. Other people are entitled to their opinions; but we think a town, or community which pays no attention to the Proclamation of its Governor and President, and the laws of the State declaring Thanksgiving a holiday is not worthy the patronage of either a Christian or loyal community. We should feel that all we are, that all we possess is the gift of God. "If it had not been the Lord," says the Psalmist, "who was on our side when men rose up against us, then they had swallowed us up quick, when their wrath was kindled against us." "The Lord is thy keeper; the Lord is thy shade upon thy right hand. The Sun shall not smite thee by day, nor the moon by night. The Lord shall preserve thee from all evil; he shall preserve thy soul." O come let us sing unto the Lord; let us make a joyful noise to the Rock of our salvation.

The Psalmist then in the exuberance of his great soul in giving thanks to God, describes a party, which we interpret to mean the Democratic party, as follows:—"Lord, how long shall the wicked, how long shall they wicked triumph? How long shall they utter and speak hard things? And all the workers of iniquity (Tammany, &c.,) boast themselves? They break in pieces thy people, O Lord and afflict thy heritage: They slay the widow and the stranger (the poor negro) and murder the fatherless. Yet they say, The Lord shall not see, neither shall the God of Jacob regard it. Understand, ye brutish among the people and ye fools, when will ye be wise?" * * * They gather themselves together against the soul of the righteous (the Republican party) and condemn the innocent blood * * * And he shall bring upon them their own iniquity, and shall cut them off in their own wickedness; yea, the Lord our God shall cut them off." Has not this prediction, this curse fallen upon the Democratic party in the recent elections. The "New Departure" cannot avert the curse of God.

MUSICAL INSTITUTE.—Mrs. Ira C. Mitchell has opened a Musical Institute at Central City, a short distance from the Milesburg Station, where she is prepared to give instruction in both Vocal and Instrumental Music, and to qualify young ladies for teachers. Mrs. Mitchell, is an accomplished and elegant lady, in every way qualified to benefit young ladies not only by the instructions she will impart, but by the influence association with her, will exert upon their manners, refining and fitting them for the society in which they are called to move

We are pleased to learn that the citizens of Milesburg and vicinity appreciate this opportunity, as is evidenced by the fact that on Monday last when she began her first quarter, eighteen pupils were entered.

Mrs. M. will visit Bellefonte two days in each week if a sufficient number of pupils are offered to justify her in so doing.

WELCOME.—Our sanctum was illumined on Tuesday the 5th inst., by the presence of our young friend L. D. Apsley, salesman for the great Tobacco House of Stewart, Marks, Ralph & Co., No., 115, Arch St., Philadelphia. This a first class house, and we can safely recommend it to all our Centre county merchants; but the point we wish to make is, that L. D. Apsley, Esq., the gentlemanly salesman for this House has made a magnificent trade in Central Pennsylvania. Mr. Apsley is a native of Lock Haven, Clinton county; but is well known and universally beloved and respected in this county. We wish him greater success than he has yet achieved, although it is great, because we glory in the success and prosperity of true and genuine merit.

LIST of Letters remaining in the Post Office, and unclaimed, Dec. 4, 1871:

Elisha Breon, John Corman, Wm. R. Griffith, A. A. Hauk, G. W. Howard, S. G. Hall, Edward Lawler, Mrs. D. D. Mitchell, Miss Kate Murray, Mary E. Myers, Daniel B. Oberholtzer, 2, J. A. Olmstead, Jacob Rebsar, Eli P. Tate, Barbara Wickof, Susan Wilkison.

FOR SALE.—The splendid mill property known as "Oak Hall," situate in Harris township, this county is now offered for sale. For full particulars as to price and terms inquire at the office of the Bellefonte REPUBLICAN. 48tf

UNFORTUNATE.—John Uzzle, Esq., a scientific farmer of Snow Shoe township paid us a visit last week. We were glad to meet him in our sanctum. Mr. Uzzle is one of natures nob'emen—a man who stands higher in this glorious Republic, than any of the royal blood of England or the Duke Alexis, over whom the American people are now making fools of themselves. We would rather give ten thousand marks of respect to John Uzzle, an honest, industrious farmer and a good American citizen than one of those sickly, pusilanimous ovations, such as the New York city people gave the Duke Alexis. Why should the Duke, be more highly honored than any good farmer or working man of Pennsylvania, or of the United States? We protest against these things, as we do against men stealing Mr. Uzzle's cattle. Mr. Uzzle last spring bought thirty calves, at prices ranging from $2,50 to $12,00 per head. Five of these died and the remainder (25) he turned out to pasture in the woods. They hunted their own living in the fruitful pastures of Snow Shoe township until they became slick and fat. About the time, that Mr. Uzzle thought they were fit for market, and would make good tender beef, he started out on the hunt of them. He called, hallowed and shouted; but the cattle which had so often answered to his call was non est inventus. He finally succeeded in getting seven out of the twenty-five. This leaves him minus 18 fine cattle, all of which are marked with a round hole in the right ear. Tanners purchasing hides will please remember the mark. We sympathize with Mr. Uzzle in his great loss; but we care little for Duke Alexis or the people who kiss his toe. When will the American people learn to be honest and wise?

OBITUARY:—

"What a world were this,
How unendurable its weight if they
Whom Death hath sunder'd did not meet again."

The death of Reuben Valentine on Saturday Morning the 24th of November, was indeed news as sad as it was sudden. He was looked upon by his acquaintances as a healthy robust man, who gave promise of a life reaching three score years and ten. He was an enterprising, hard working man. He was an active member of the firm of the Messrs Valentine & Milliken, and one of the Proprietors of the Bellefonte iron works, also, the owner of several fine farms, the cultivation of which he kept under his immediate supervision. He was always progressive, always active and energetic and while he labored to secure an abundance of this worlds goods, he was ever liberal, charitable and kind to the poor—his less fortunate neighbors and friends. He was indeed, in every sense of the word, one of "natures noblemen."

On Friday he appeared as healthful and vigorous as usual, but in the evening he was suddenly struck down by an attack of heart disease, during the night his Physician thought the crises passed; but in the morning he was again attacked, and in a few moments afterwards the "vital spark" had fled. He was buried on Tuesday the 28th ult., in the friends burying ground. His place in this community will not be easily filled. Mr. Valentine was in his 43d year.

MUSICAL ASSOCIATION.—The citizens of Pine Grove, Ferguson twp., have formed a Musical Association composed of some of the best citizens of the twp., conducted by Prof. Carter. The Association will open on the 25th, and will give three sessions each day, closing on the 29th day of December, 1871. On Friday evening the 29th, a grand Concert will be given. It is the intention of the Association to make the Concert on the evening above named, a grand affair, worth more than all it will cost for the admission to the entire session of four days. These musical associations, we think are to be recommended, and parents and guardians, should do all in their power to patronize them. Music is an accomplishment. Every child should be instructed sufficiently, to sing with the spirit and the understanding also. 48-3t

SMALL POX.—Small pox is spreading in Blair county, Hollidaysburg has had a fatal case. Let our people use every precaution, for we know not how soon the unwelcome visitor may come.—Philipsburg Journal.

The advice of the Journal to the citizens of Philipsburg and Rush twp., is good,—and should be strictly adhered to; but it is our opinion, that the small pox (if not too severe) would brighten up the ideas of the Editor of the Journal and enable him to get something into his local columns, and also, teach him that when he copies from the REPUBLICAN to give the proper credit and not say that we copy the following from the Watchman. We are sorry we had to mention the Watchman's name in this connection.

NEW BOOK.—"Chicago and the Great Conflagration" is the title of a new work written by Elias Colbert and Everett Chamberlain of the Editorial staff of the Chicago Tribune, and published by Messrs. Hubbard & Bros., 723 Sansom st., Phila. This work contains 500 pages with 30 spirited illustrations, is ably written, and is just the work that every person should have. Our young friend Nelson Lucas, has secured the Agency to sell this book in Bellefonte, Boggs, Spring and Huston twps. He is a reliable man and will deliver the books himself.

THE Methodist Church at Sprucetown, near Potters Mills, will be dedicated on Sunday the 17th inst., at 11 A. M. The services will be conducted by Rev. Thomas Bowman. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

For the REPUBLICAN.

RECIPE FOR CURING PORK AND BEEF.—Take, for every eighty pounds of meat: Two ounces saltpetre; one pint of salt; one pint of good molasses.

The salt and saltpetre should be fine or made fine, and mixed well with the molasses, moderately heated in a convenient vessel. As soon after butchering as the meat is cold, this mixture (moderately heated) should be applied by rubbing it on the meat, with the hand, until the mixture applied is dissolved and pretty well absorbed. Care should be taken to give to each piece of meat, its due proportion of the mixture, and apply it to all parts of the piece, especially to the ends of hams, &c., the bones and the skin. The mixture may be applied all at once, or in two or three portions, at intervals of a day or less.

Each piece of meat, when rubbed, should be laid by itself (not heaped up) on a board, or hung up on a hook—the dripping from the meat will be slight.

A day or two after the rubbing with the mixture, dry salt should be rubbed on, the quantity depending upon the size of the pieces, usually about a quart for eighty pounds of meat, care being taken to apply an extra portion where the meat feels at all slimy.

In a day or two after this last operation the meat may be hung up and smoked in the usual manner.

To those who have not the conveniences, or who wish to avoid the trouble of putting down their meat in pickle, and to those who wish to retain the nutritious juices and sweetness of the meat, which are effectually taken out by the common practice of soaking it for six weeks in salt brine.

The above method of curing meat is invaluable. It has been successfully tried, and can be relied on.

G. W. L.

PERSONAL.—Hon. Wm. H. Armstrong one of the best and most able lawyers in Pennsylvania was in attendance at our Court on Monday last and made one of those powerful speeches for which he is so justly celebrated. We hope the Republicans in justice to themselves, will determine to elect him next fall, as our Congressmen from this District.

....Judge McEnally, of Clearfield, who so faithfully served this Judicial District as Judge by appointment, for a short time and who was the competitor of Judge Mayor, was in town on Monday last. Judge McEnally is one of the representative men of this country. He is a true Republican and should be to-day the honored judicial representative of this judicial district. The people of this county will only learn by hard knocks and kicks.

....W. A. Wallace, one of the finest lawyers in Central Pennsylvania—and chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee was also in town this week. Intellectually Mr. Wallace is a strong man; but politically he is most unscrupulous and therefore unfortunate. He is a member of the State Senate today simply because the majority of the people in his district are about as dishonest, unscrupulous and ignorant as are the constituents of "Boss Tweed" the great New York thief. The people of Clearfield, &c., will learn wisdom, we think, before many years more, have rolled their ample rounds. Tweed, Wallace, Sam Josephs, Meek and Corruption are names now about as familiar with the people as are the names of Judas Iscariot or Benedict Arnold.

SIGNS OF THE ZODIAC—A philosopher in the West, grown into admiration of the Cherry Pectoral, writes Dr Ayer for instructions under which sign he shall be bled, which blistered, and which vomited, and under which he shall take Ayer's Pills for an affection of the liver: also under which sign his wife should commence to take the Sarsaparilla for her ailment. He adds that he already knows to wean his calves under Taurus change his pigs in Scorpio. cut his hair in Aries, and soak his feet in Pisces or Aquarius as their condition requires.

Schoolmasters, start for Wisconsin, and visit Mr. Ham when you get there [Lowell Daily News.

THE Luzerne Union records another terrible accident resulting from the too common practice of blowing down a lamp chimney to extinguish light. The casualty occurred in Cleveland, Pa., a few nights since. Mrs. Elizabeth Stark disrobed to retire about 10 o'clock. She attempted to extinguish her coal oil lamp, in a very common manner, by blowing down the chimney. The lamp exploded, throwing over her the blazing liquid, and in an instant she was enveloped in flames and was terribly burned. There seems no end to accidents resulting from the careless use of Kerosine, and people cannot be too careful how they manage and handle their lighted lamps.

PERSONAL.—Mr. A. J. Cassatt, General Superintendent of the Pennsylvania Central, now stationed at Altoona, will assume the general management of the united companies of New Jersey on the first of December, and will have his headquarters at the company's office in Philadelphia.—This appointment is a high compliment to Mr. Cassatt and shows that the Pennsylvania railroad company has great confidence in his executive abilities.

MUSICAL CONVENTION.—We owe our musical friends at Milesburg, an apology for not being present at the Concert given by Prof. Hager's class, in the M. E. Church last Saturday evening. We assure them that no possible consideration could have induced us to miss such a treat, but peremptory business engagements. We are gratified to learn that the Convention and Concert, were in every respect successful, and that the expectations of the projectors were fully realized. Prof. Hager's reputation as a Vocal teacher is known all over Central Penn'a, and as an instrumental performer and songstress, Mrs. Ira C. Mitchell, has few equals and no superiors. We are informed that Mr. Christy and Miss Rose Rynder, of Lock Haven, assisted a portion of the time in the exercises, giving the class the benefit of three Organs at one time, filling the house with their tones. The Concert was well attended and we learn that it is the desire of our friends to have the Professor another week some time during the winter. Should they do so, "May we be there to see."

The receipts, as we are informed by Rev. Mr, Cleaver, will considerably exceed the expenses thus aiding the Sunday School.

BALLOU'S MONTHLY MAGAZINE FOR DECEMBER.—The December number of this popular magazine is out and for sale at all the depots in the country. It is a capital issue, and has more reading of real value and interest than any publication of its class in the country. No one can fail to be interested in "Ballou's Magazine," for the simple reason that the publishers cater to the tastes of all, and not to one class alone, as many serials do. Old and young can find amusement in Ballou's, and it is not of an expensive kind either, for $1.50 secures it for a year, and it is only 15 cents a number. The December issue is rich and varied. Now is the time to start clubs for new year. Address Thomes & Talbot, 63 Congress Street, Boston.

For the REPUBLICAN.

"FRUITS."—Mr. Editor:—A few days ago I received by rail a barrel of very choice potatoes. Where did it did come from? We asked. On inspecting a modest label it proved to be a donation from the Sabbath school first organized last Spring in a neighborhood composed of families mostly by the name of Gaines and Smoke.

Some good men prophesied that this school would fail. I am gratified in being able to report from personal observation that the school has been well sustained and prosperous. I am not aware that it is yet closed. "By their fruits ye shall know them." R. CRITTENDEN.

Missionary American S. S. U.
Bellefonte, Dec. 5th, 1871.

Winter is now fairly upon us and the teams are hastening to the lumber woods in various parts of the country. Our advice to every man who goes to the woods, be he captain, cook, teamster, or any other man, is to take along a good stock of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment and Parsons' Purgative Pills. Many months of labor (in the aggregate) may be saved by this precaution.

Bad enough to look and feel bad yourself; but no excuse for having your horse look and feel badly, when for a small sum you can buy Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders, which given in grain two or three times a week, will make him look and feel well.

REYNOLDS' OPERA HOUSE—Saturday, December 9th, 1871.—Rev. Arthur P. Devlin, a reformed Roman Catholic, will give his reasons for renouncing that faith for the Protestant, and also, the secrets of the Confessional. All will be laid open to the Public. Go and hear the truth from one that knows Ladies and gentlemen are expected to attend this lecture. I am well able to satisfy the public from my experience. Admission, 25 cents.

REV. ARTHUR P. DEVLIN.

DRUG STORE.—We take pleasure in announcing to our readers, that Messrs. Linn & Wilson have just received another supply of fresh drugs and chemicals at their splendid Drug Store on Allegheny st. They have also received a fine assortment of Brushes, fancy and toilet soaps. Ed. Herr, their gentlemanly and scientific clerk is always at his post, to wait upon customers and faithfully perform the duties of his position.

A CARD.—We take this method of saying that there is no truth in the reports that have been circulated, "that we intend quitting the coal business as soon as our present supply is sold out." On the contrary we have on hands now and intend to keep on hand a well selected stock of the best Anthracite coal in the market.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

FOUR EVILS.—Whoever habitually uses any alcoholic preparations as an "appetizer" will be likely to suffer from four evils viz.: an overplus of food in the stomach, impaired ability to digest it, the pangs of dyspepsia, and a doctor's bill. DR. WALKER'S VEGETABLE VINEGAR BITTERS, the great Teotal Restorative of the age, without over stimulating the palate or irritating the stomach, imparts a healthful appetite, promotes digestion, regulates the liver and bowels, purifies the blood, and thus, instead of entailing four evils, confers four inestimable benefits.

CAPTAIN JAMES GALLAGHER.

Steamboat Captain, of Pittsburgh, Pa. writes: "The inventor of MISHLER'S HERB BITTERS is a benefactor to the human race. I was a victim to the worst form of Dyspepsia; my health failed to such an extent that my Physicians pronounced me incurable. I had used all sorts of remedies and even took a voyage to California but nothing relieved me. When MISHLER'S HERB BITTERS was recommended I refused to use it; but my friends insisting, I at last yielded. I am thankful that I did so, for it cured me, and I am now as well, hale and strong as I was fifteen years ago."
